

Joint Venture Announcement: Swiss Polymers AG and Kolmar Group AG

Zürich, Switzerland — [25/June/2025]

Kolmar Group AG, the renowned international trading and manufacturing entity and Swiss Polymers AG, a global provider and distributor of advanced polymer solutions, are pleased to announce the formation of a strategic joint venture to grow the joint venture business in high-growth markets. This joint venture builds upon strong synergies, combining Swiss Polymers' distribution network and material science expertise with Kolmar's extensive global network and deep market knowledge, aiming to drive both competitiveness to the market which the JV will serve, and to grow the market for the JV products and services. The partnership aims to:

1. Accelerate Growth: Drive growth in existing and new markets to meet the evolving needs of industries such as automotive, electronics, healthcare, and consumer goods.
2. Enhance Operational Efficiency: Leverage combined marketing and distribution capabilities to optimize and improve supply chain resilience and customer service.
3. Expand Market Reach: Capitalize on Kolmar's strong presence in key international markets to rapidly scale polymer solutions and capture emerging opportunities.
4. Sustainability Leadership: Foster a joint commitment to sustainability by integrating circular economy principles and advanced recycling technologies, aligning with global climate goals.
5. Capitalize On a Shared Culture: Both businesses have a mutual foundational tenet of building long-term, sustainable relationships with both customers and producers. Through this the JV will seek to grow its market share and increase the service level offering to its customers.

Leadership Perspective

"Kolmar is excited to partner with Swiss Polymers in this transformative journey," commented Ruth Sandelowsky, CEO of Kolmar AG "This collaboration aligns perfectly with our long-term strategy of driving growth through technological leadership and operational excellence."

"This joint venture is a natural evolution of our commitment to innovation and customer service," said Martin Endres, CEO of Swiss Polymers AG; "Swiss Polymers' staff have over 20 years of experience and existing customer support in various markets. Together, we will advance the growth of our shared enterprise, creating substantial value for our customers and partners worldwide."
